ORDINANCES REPEALED.

High Prices of Meats Cause Council to Pass Relief Measures.

The City Council held a called session Saturday night to discuss same matters in advance of the coming meeting Friday night, when the Cumberland Telephone franchise matters will be made a special order and other important business will come up. The called meeting was attended by all of the members except councilman Davis, who was in Lexington.

Two ordinances passed a year or two ago were repealed. One of these was known as the "meat ordinance," which imposed a license of $25 on peddlers of fresh meats from wagons. The other was known as the "huckster ordinance," and imposed a license of $10 on peddlers of "vegetables, fruit, poultry, butter eggs and other produce" except when grown by the seller. The effect of the repeal of these ordinances is to give free trade to produce of all kinds and hucksters can retail their marketing anywhere in the city, subject only to the usual inspections of the health officer. The action taken is expected to very materially affect the living expenses of the people of the city, and also to be received with satisfaction by the country people.

Several other important matters were discussed and placed in the hands of the proper committee.

The 28 days required for the concrete floor of the North Main Street bridge to "set", will expire next Saturday and a representative of the Vincennes Bridge Co., is expected this week to meet with the bridge committee. The Kentucky Rock asphalt for street work will be shipped on the 20th.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

The revival at the Ninth St. Christian church will continue until and including Friday night. Services will be held at the hours indicated above.

Sixty persons have presented themselves for membership in the Ninth Street Christian church, the most of them having made their first public confession of faith in Christ. Great audiences have heard the evangelists twice daily during the week just past. Sunday's audiences were as large as were ever assembled in meetings of a single church here.

Three times the large auditorium was filled--the last time not fewer than three hundred persons being turned away for lack of room.

Prof. Sturgis, who has been ill for several days, is sufficiently recovered to sing again as well as to direct the large chorus. On Saturday night he was wholly disabled. Miss Ellen Young took his place with grace and skill.

Mr. Sellers seems to our people to have grown since last year. He was vigorous, vital and splendidly effective in his work then. He seems to his hearers more so now. He is preaching such sermons as are not often heard in evangelistic meetings--sermons at once thoughtful, dignified, practical and popular. He is a great preacher.

REPORTED KILLING.

Madison Man Said to Have Slain Two Negro
Night Riders.

Frankfort, Ky., May 8.--Information has reached the Adjutant General's office here that two negroes were shot and killed and a white man was badly wounded a few nights ago in Madison county between Kirksville and Richmond by a well known tobacco grower, whose property was threatened with destruction in the event of his refusal to grow a crop this year.

The information came direct to Col. E. W. Lillard, who has charge of the State troops in this section, with headquarters in Cynthiana.

Masked Men Call.
Col. Lillard's informant said that a half dozen masked men called on the tobacco grower late at night and made a peremptory demand on him to destroy his plants bed.
Upon his refusal to do their bidding they started to scrape a large bed of young tobacco plants when he repaired to the house and returned with a shot gun.

Kills Two of Them.

Opening fire on the marauders, he killed two of them and shot a third man's arm off. The latter is said to be a prominent citizen of the county.

According to Col. Lillard's informant, the occurrence is said to have been rigidly suppressed, although the informant volunteered to give the names of the parties concerned in the affair for investigation by the Adjutant General's department.

THE G. O. P. PLATFORM ENDORSES WILLSON

Adopted By the State Convention at Louisville.

FAVOR TARIFF REVISION

Delegates Instructed for Taft for the Presidency.

The Republicans of Kentucky in convention assembled hereby declare.
We congratulate the citizens of Kentucky upon the election of Augustus E. Willson as Governor, and approve his efforts under great difficulties to restore law and order throughout the State.

We affirm the declaration of principles adopted by the last Republican State Convention, and assure the people of Kentucky that the State administration has labored faithfully and earnestly to crystallize those principles into written law, and that it will continue to do so.

We approve and applaud the splendid administration of Theodore Roosevelt. He has raised the moral standard of all departments of government to a higher plane than has ever before reached. Honesty, justice and the principles of government as the principles of government. We favor a sound financial system, a great navy, the speedy completion of the Panama Canal, and a just and generous policy toward our insular possession.

We favor the revision of the tariff by a congress which understands and believes in the principles of protection to American labor.

We favor wise and just regulation of the public utilities which have become national public servants, and we oppose the dangerous and un-American doctrine of government ownership of such utilities.

We sympathize with all legislative efforts to lessen and prevent evils of intemperance and to promote morality.

We stand for the policies which have made the present administration great, and demand that those policies shall prevail and their objects be accomplished.

By natural gifts, by special training, by wide and uncommon experience William H. Taft, of Ohio, is fitted for the office of President of the United States, and we instruct our delegates to the national convention at Chicago to vote for him until he shall be nominated.

DUG GRAVE IN BED

And Night Riders Continue Their Depredations In Boyle County.

Danville, Ky., May 8.—Night riders dug a grave last night in a big tobacco bed on the farm of E. C.
McWhorter, near Marcellus, and tied a bunch of switches and matches to the front door at the residence of Cleveland Rose, another farmer in the same neighborhood. The latter also received a note stating that unless he quit the tobacco business his house would be burned and that he would be beaten.

A reward of $1,000 will be offered today for the capture of the persons who dynamited the tobacco beds on the farm of Joseph Ware Sunday morning.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS.

Do Not Endanger Life
When a Cure May Be Had

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, cure yourself now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in.

Leslie K. Hickman, living on Arch street, Madisonville, Ky., says: "I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. I tested their merits about three months ago and the results could have been more satisfactory. I had pain through the small of my back directly over the kidneys which caused me considerable annoyance. Stopping or straightening caused sharp twinges to catch me in the kidneys. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box. I noticed a decided improvement from the use of this box, and continued taking them, using a second box, completely curing me. I have every confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills and cheerfully give them my recommendation."

IT SAVED MY LIFE—

WRITES ECZEMA PATIENT.

Bed-ridden Sufferer Completely Cured
by Use of D.D.D. External Wash.

One of the most remarkable Eczema cures recently credited to the well known D. D. D. Prescription has just been recorded in Chicago.
Mrs. E. Hegg, 1550 West Madison street, under date of Dec. 9, 1907, writes as follows:

"I suffered three years with Weeping Eczema. It started with a little spot on my knees and spread fast over my whole body. I spent hundreds of dollars and went to every good doctor I heard of, but kept getting worse. Nothing would stop the awful itch and burning.

"I had to stay in bed from the middle of May to the middle of July.
This is the 9th of December and I am entirely free from the terrible disease. D. D. D. saved my life.

"When I began this treatment, people were afraid of me. I looked so terrible. My husband was the only one who would take care of me. D. D. D. stopped the itch at once so I could sleep, which I had not done before. Then I began to get better fast and now my skin is clear and white, not a spot anywhere."

Just a few drops of D. D. D. Prescription applied to the skin brings relief—nothing to swallow or drink.
We vouch for D. D. D. Prescription, also the cleansing D. D. D. Soap.

Origin of Pugilism.

Man being instinctively a pugacious animal and the fist being the simplest and most natural weapon, it may safely be assumed that pugilism, as a mode of settling difficulties, is coeval with man himself. So far as we know, boxing for men was introduced in the Olympic games in the twenty-third Olympiad, 708 B. C., and for boys in the thirty-second Olympiad, 608 B. C.

Young people suffering from the

tary association centers by an appropriate affirmative impression."

BLUEBEARD IN SKIRTS

Indiana Woman Who Buried
Many Murdered People
In Her Yard.

WIFE HUNTERS TRAP

Two Husbands and Three Suitors Slain and Secretly Buried.

Laporte, Ind., May 6.—New horror was added to the Guinness murder today when another mutilated body was unearthed on the farm adjoining the ruins of the "house of horror," in which a woman and three children were burned to death on April 27, making eight since the search started yesterday morning, or 16 mysterious deaths in the case.
This makes the Guinness farm graveyard for murder victims without a numerical equal in the history of America. The search continues. The postmaster this afternoon asserted that Mrs. Guinness was a Bluebeard in skirts, and that she received at least ten letters every day for years from all parts of the country in answer to matrimonial bureau advertisements.

There developed today the theory that Mrs. Guinness did not die in the fire which destroyed her home on the night of April 27 and that she is still alive and in hiding, probably in Chicago.

This theory is strengthened by the fact that the head of the body of the woman found in the ruins of the Guinness home after the fire is still missing although every effort has been made by the authorities to locate it, even to going through the charred timbers piece by piece. Unless the head is found soon the officers will make a post mortem examination of the remains of Mrs. Gun-ness and subject them to a more careful analysis to learn whether or not the woman was herself killed in the fire or had substituted the remains of one of her female victims for herself and then set fire to the house in order to cover up the crime.

The headless body of Mrs. Gun-ness lies at the morgue, burned almost to a crisp, but as yet no analysis of the stomach has been made.
Fishtrap Lake will be dragged for the missing head.

It is pointed out as opposing the theory that Mrs. Guinness is alive, that the day before the Guinness home was burned, the woman deposited dollars in the State Bank here.
She was worth about $20,000 and her passion for money is given as the incentive for the crimes committed. A theory that she might be alive includes the supposition that she feared Lamphere was about to expose her through jealousy.

False Wall in Basement.

It is the intention of the authorities to remove the cement floor of the basement of the ruined Guinness house and also to tear down a false wall which was discovered yesterday afternoon. That there is a hollow space behind this false wall is certain.

The sheriff believes that she is working in conjunction with some Chicago murderers and that another Holmes castle case will develop.

The sixth body within 24 hours was found at 9 o'clock this morning, which makes twelve mysterious deaths, the bodies of the victims having been found in the following order:

First husband of Mrs. Guinness.
Second husband of Mrs. Guinness.
Jennie Gison, adopted daughter of Mrs. Guinness.
Andre Heldergreen.
Unknown woman at first supposed to be the body of Mrs. Guinness.
Three children of Mrs. Guinness.
Two unknown men.
Unknown female.
Unknown man.

BUSYBODIES VS. DR. RUTH.

Here Are The Facts—Judge For Yourself.

Busybodies who see in success only falsehood, who, without making an effort to inform themselves, hastily and often erroneously judge of the truth—need to be taught a lesson. Dr. Pierce's well-known medicinal remedies are a clear illustration of the intelligence of thousands of clear-thinking American women who know they have been injured and cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is not a "patent medicine" in any sense.
It is simply the favorite remedy which Dr. Pierce used in an extended practice for the treatment of the diseases peculiar to women.

Preserving and preserving the active principles of the above medicinal remedies.

Truth and Influence. A name for honesty and square dealing is better than great riches. Fraud is a bubble that soon bursts. Dr. E. V.
Pierce has always been known to speak the truth—his famous medicines are founded on the rock of public approval and have thousands of truthful testimonials as to their ability to cure diseases for which they are recommended.

True Speaking. No man ever lost a prospective customer through telling the truth. In the long run the truth will prevail and he is therefore not afraid to make public his facts.

Valuable Trade Secrets. The ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription are given to the public. He vindicates the excellence and harmless character of his "Prescription" by letting all women know just what they are taking when they use this reliable tonic and serve for the disease and illnesses peculiarly feminine. These ingredients are combined in just the right proportion to make an efficient remedy, without the use of a particle of alcohol, and they are as follows: Golden Seal root, Black Cohosh root, Unicorn root, Blue Cohosh root, and Slippery elm, with chemically pure glycerine of proper strength for

No Alcohol Used. Dr. Pierce never believed
it necessary or advisable to use alcohol in the preparation of either his "Favorite Prescription" for weak women, or his "Golden Medical Discovery," the well-known alterative tonic, which is so largely used as a remedy for indigestion, torpid liver, bad blood and kindred ailments. Over forty years ago, he discovered that chemically pure glycerine is a far better solvent of most of the active principles residing in our native medicinal plants when used at a proper and sustained temperature than is alcohol, and, furthermore, he found that a glyceric extract kept much better than an alcoholic one, and that the glyceric extract was more palatable and valuable, being demulcent, nutritive and an effective uniform. Although costing somewhat more, Dr. Pierce prefers that glyceric medicinal extracts will be in the not distant future, largely replace alcoholic ones so generally prescribed by physicians and put out by proprietary or "patent medicine" manufacturers, as being more efficient and entirely free from the serious objection of making indigestion when used in lingering or chronic cases, where a somewhat protracted use of medicine is necessary no matter how good or well adapted to the case it may be in order to obtain permanent results.

Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" is strong enough, as in obstinate constipation, the little, pleasant, sugar-coated "Pellets" should be taken to aid the "Prescription." One or two for a laxative, two to four for a cathartic. They alone have been known to cure many bad cases of stomach trouble, dyspepsia and indigestion. They act on the liver and regulate the bowels. Put up in glass vials, corked, therefore, always fresh and reliable. Pleasant Pellets.

Started in Terminal Hotel, Burns Two Squares.

Atlanta, Ga., May 8.—Two solid business blocks of Atlanta are in ruins to-day as a result of a fire which threatened for a time to carry its destruction through the business section of the city and perhaps wipe out the entire down-town district. The fire loss may be conservatively estimated at $1,500,000. The Terminal Hotel, one of the largest in the city, is a mass of bricks. It had on its register 200 guests when the fire started a block away. Every one escaped. Nearby were several other small hotels, but in these there was no loss of life.

The fire started in the Schlesinger-Meyer Baking Company, Madison and Nelson streets, at 3:30 o'clock this morning, and within a few minutes the building was in flames.

The Thunderer.

The original "Thunderer" of Printing House square was not, as many people suppose, the famous newspaper itself, but one of its writers, Captain Edward Sterling, who after being called to the bar and serving as a volunteer during the Irish rebellion finished a versatile career on the staff of the London Times. Captain Sterling was a well known figure in London political circles and was father of the more famous John Sterling, critic, essayist and friend of Wordsworth, Coleridge and De Quincey.

Dr. Johnson and Checkers. A fragment concerning Dr. Johnson and draughts: "We walked with Dr. Adams into the master's garden and into the common room. Johnson—Ay! Here I used to play at draughts with Phil Jones and Fudger. Jones loved beer and did not get forward in the church. Fudger turned out a Whig, a scoundrel and said he was ashamed of having been bred at Oxford. Boswell—Was he a scoundrel, sir, in any other way than that of being a political scoundrel? Did he cheat at draughts? Dr. Johnson—Sir, we never played for money." Which shows that they used to play in Oxford colleges in those days and that it was considered natural to gamble on the game.—Birmingham Post.

Itching, bleeding, protruding or blind piles yield to Doan's Ointment. Chronic cases soon relieved, finally cured. Druggists all sell it.

When Abraham Lincoln in 1800 sought solitude that he might write his inaugural address, he asked his friend Herndon for a copy of the constitution, for Webster's reply to Hayne, for Jackson's proclamation against nullification and for Henry Clay's speech on the compromise of 1850.

When a man writes as follows don't you think he means it? Mr. S. G. Williams, Powderly, Texas, says, "I have suffered for years with Kidney and Bladder trouble, using every preparation I came across and taking many prescriptions all without relief until my attention was called to Pineules. After 30 days' trial ($1.00), I am feeling fine. Money refunded if not satisfied. Sold by Anderson-Powderly Drug Co., Incorporated."

"My husband had been a great sufferer with rheumatism for nearly fifteen years. At first it was in his bones, but after a while it was in the back, and after a time it was in the flesh and finally running sores broke out on his legs, from below the knees to the ankles. There are no words to tell all the discomfort and great suffering he had to bear night and day. He was laid endure night and day. He used every kind of remedy and three physicians treated him, one after the other, without any good results whatever. So one day I happened to read about Cuticura Remedies. I asked him if he would not try them. 'No,' said he.

'It's no use, I've spent enough money now.' The next day I ordered five dollars' worth of Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent. He began to use them without confidence but after three weeks all the sores were dried up. The burning fire stopped, and the pains became bearable. After three months he was quite well. Two years later the pains and sores came back after he had been working hard and had taken cold. But as soon as he used Cuticura again it cured him. Two years ago I used Cuticura Pills for general debility. They did me a great deal of good and made me well. Three months since I had pains in my back and Cuticura took them away, too. I can prove this testimonial at any time. Mrs. V. V. Albert.

REPUDIATED HIS AFFIDAVIT

When He Found Two of the Men He Implicated On the Grand Jury.

BARBER'S CLOSE PLACE.

Other Happenings In The Night Rider Trouble In Other Counties.

Paducah, Ky., May 11.—After confessing to W. L. Krone, county attorney of Lyon county, his connection with the night-rider organization and making affidavit to the confession, Jodie Groce, a Paducah barber, found two of the men he implicated in his confession sitting on the grand jury at Eddyville, and swore before that body that the confession was procured by force. Groce was a barber at Eddyville where the Police Judge, C. C. Rucker, and eleven others were whipped and after that raid he came to Paducah. His alleged connection with the night riders was disclosed by S. L. Hall, of Lamasco, who joined the band to procure evidence against them.

Groce made confession here last Friday and Mr. Krone says he has four witnesses to prove that Groce called him out of the barbershop to make the confession. He went to the station to meet Groce Saturday to take him to Lyon county and found him there in custody of the Deputy Sheriff, H. L. Coleman, on the old warrant issued by County Judge W. L. Crumbaugh. Mr. Krone was surprised as Judge Crumbaugh, it was understood, had expressly requested that the warrant not be served. Then Groce appeared before the grand jury and said the affidavit was not true. In the affidavit, Groce tells of the meeting at Dewey Lodge of Night Riders. He also attended a meeting of Friendship Lodge at Friendship house and he gave the name of the captain and those present.

At that meeting two members had the pistols taken from Police Judge Rucker at Eddyville, and they made arrangements to go back masked and take the pistols to him. Two of the members of Friendship Lodge were on the grand jury before which Groce appeared.

Mr. Smith In Town.

Commonwealth's Attorney Denny P. Smith stopped over in the city Saturday en route from Eddyville to Cadiz. He said the outlook for night rider indictments was not good and he did not think any indictments would be returned unless the present grand jury was discharged and another empaneled.

Soldiers in Madison.

Richmond, Ky., May 9.—Forty-four members of Company G, Second Kentucky State Militia, Danville, mounted and under command of Lieut. H. T. Smith, rode into this city this afternoon.

Both officers and privates refuse to give any intimations as to their mission, saying they are under secret orders.

It is said they will investigate the reported killing of night riders in the county.

Troops have not been ordered here by the sheriff or judge but the appearance of soldiers did not cause them to be in the least indignant, and they will be gladly welcomed as long as they choose to stay.

Regrets Soldiers' Action.

Cadiz, Ky., May 9.—After a conference with the county officials this afternoon, Brig. Gen. Williams stated that he regretted very much the action of the soldiers in entering Trigg county and making four arrests; that he had issued positive orders to the soldiers to keep out of Trigg and not to make any arrests unless accompanied by the county officers or ordered to do so by him. He assured the Trigg county officials that the offense would not be repeated. The arrests were near the Lyon county line.

Convicts Interviewed.

Frankfort, Ky., May 11.—Before leaving for the East, Gov. Willson went to the penitentiary and had a long interview with Gen. McCoy and John Quincy Adams, the men convicted of night riding in Trigg county and brought here so that the Governor could talk to them about the night riders. It is not known what the Governor learned from the two men, but it is believed that he secured information that will be valuable in running down the night riders in Trigg and Lyon counties.

Mr. T. J. Hawkins spent Sunday and Monday with his family at Guthrie.

PADUCAH WINS FIGHT

Franchise Must Be Sold to the Highest Bidder.

Paducah, Ky., May 8.—The city has won its fight against the East Tennessee Telephone Company. The company has agreed to bid on a franchise to be sold by the city and to start the bidding at $7,500.

The condition is that the company be allowed to charge higher rates. City and company have been fighting for years over the matter of buying a franchise, during which time the company brought suit against the city, when the city removed 'phones from the city departments, to prevent interference with its business.

CRUELTY ALLEGED

By Plaintiff in Petition for Divorce.

Suit for divorce was filed Saturday by Mrs. Ada A. Fields against W. G. Fields. The petitioner states that they were married in Tennessee in July, 1906. Cruel treatment is alleged. Plaintiff prays for an absolute divorce and the restoration of her maiden name, Ada Agnes Long. The parties reside in South Christian.

MUCH TALKED ABOUT

The May Music Festival to Be Held Here This Month.

Wherever you go throughout this region now, the subject of the May Music Festival, which is to be given under the auspices of B. P. O. Elks and the Union Tabernacle management on May 19, 20 and 21 is broached. It is rarely the case that the person inquiring about this great event does not signify his or her intention of coming for at least one performance, while many are coming for the entire time. Crowds are beginning to be organized in many of the surrounding towns to visit Hopkinsville at this time and everything points to a big attendance and a splendid success. Both the Illinois Central and the Louisville & Nashville railroads have granted a rate of one-third fare plus 25 cents for the round trip, these tickets are to go on sale May 15th and limited to return as late as May 22. This concession upon the part of the railroads is in itself a great recommendation for the worth of the festival for this is the same rate given Nashville, Cincinnati and Louisville for similar events.

During the festival Hopkinsville will more than sustain her reputation for hospitality and good fellowship. Every home will be open to friends from the surrounding territory and from a distance. Each boarding house and hotel is making special arrangements for the welfare of the guests which are expected. The Elks will keep open house at their club rooms on Ninth Street during the entire three days and everybody, big and little, old and young, will let other things go for the time being and devote his time and attention to making the visitors have a good time.

It was certainly a wise move on the part of the Elks and the Tabernacle management when they selected Creator and his band as the star feature. Just the name of this celebrated bandmaster and the fact that he would be in Hopkinsville has been the biggest advertisement and guarantee of the character of the entertainment that could have been secured. Creator's fame is known to everyone and those who have never heard him are always anxious for an opportunity, while those who have listened to him are doubly anxious for another chance.

Sophy of Kravonia.

By ANTHONY HOPE.
Author of "The Prisoner of Zenda." Copyright, 1906, Anthony Hope Hawkins.

In vain will the readers of this tale of romantic love and brilliant daring search the maps of the world for the picturesque land of Kravonia, wherein lovely, fascinating Sophy and her mysterious Red Star played their parts. This much we may tell him before he embarks on his voyage to Kravonia. But we may assure him that when he reluctantly parts with Sophy, sometime scullery maid of Moringham, Essex, England, later spiritualistic medium of Paris, France, and still later of high rank in Slavna and Volseni, in Kravonia, the country of her adoption will be to him, like Zenda and Graustark, more real than are many of the smaller, actual kingdoms of the earth. Such a magic in some of its aspects is the love story of Sophy of Kravonia, but its pathos is so heightened by devoted loyalty, hardy bravery and tender, self sacrificing affection that at the end the reader will surely feel its telling has not been unworthy of the master hand of its famous chronicler.

Yet Sophy's march was interrupted once more. A tall young man set swinging his legs on the gate that led from the avenue into the road. The sturdy boy who had run home in terror on the night Enoch Grouch died had grown into a tall, good looking young fellow. He was clad in what is nowadays called a hincer and check trousers and smoked a large meerschaum pipe. His expression was gloomy. The gate was shut, and he was on the top of it. Sophy approached him with some signs of nervousness. When he saw her he greeted her moodily.

"You can't come through," he said firmly.
"Please, Mr. Basil, I must. I shall be late for tea."
"I won't let you through. There!" Sophy looked despairful. "May I climb over?"
"No," said Basil firmly, but a smile began to twitch about his lips.

Quick now, as ever, to see the joint in a man's armor, Sophy smiled too. "If you'd let me through I'd give you a kiss," she said, offering the only thing she had to give in all the world. "You would, would you? But I hate kisses. In fact, I hate girls all around, big and little." "You don't hate Julia, do you?" "Yes, worst of all."

"Oh," said Sophy—once more the recording, re-gist'ring in her mind. "Oh!"—because Julia had given quite another impression, and Sophy sought to reconcile these opposites. The young man jumped down from the gate, with a healthy laugh at himself and at her, caught her up in his arms and gave her a smacking kiss. "That's all," he said. "Now you can go through, missy."

"Thank you, Mr. Basil. It's not very hard to get through, is it?" He set her down with a laugh, a laugh with a note of surprise in it. Her last words had sounded odd from a child. But Sophy's eyes were quite grave. She was probably recording the practical value of a kiss.

"You shall tell me whether you think the same about that in a few years' time," he said, laughing again. "When I'm grown up," she asked, with a slow, puzzled smile.

"Perhaps," said he, assuming gravity anew. "And cook?" she asked, with a curiously interrogative air, anxious apparently to see what he, in his turn, would think of her destiny.

"Cook? You're going to be a cook?" "The cook," she amended—"the cook at the hall."

"I'll come and eat your dinners," he laughed, yet looked a trifle compassionate. Sophy's quick eyes tracked his feelings.

"You don't think it's nice to be a cook, either?" she asked.

Sophy's manner changed into a calm graciousness. "I'm very sorry," she said.
"Thank you."
"You amuse me."
"The deuce I do!" laughed Basil Williamson.
She raised her eyes slowly to his. "You'll be friends, anyhow, won't you?"
"To cook or queen," he said, and heartiness shone through his railway. Sophy nodded her head gravely, sealing the bargain. A bargain it was.

Chapter Three

It seemed somehow impossible, as I go to be cook there all my days. So writes Sophy at a later date in regard to her life at Moringham hall. To many of us in our youth it has seemed impossible that we should pass all our days in the humdrum occupations and the mediocre positions in which we have in fact spent them. Young ambitions are chronic only when they have been fulfilled—unless where a born autobiographer makes fun out of his failures. But Sophy had a double portion of original contentment. This much the records of Moringham years, scanty as they are, remind us.

The immediate result of this disposition of hers was unhappy, and it is not hard to sympathize with the feelings of the Brownlows. Their benevolence was ample, but it was not unclouded. Their benefits, which were very great, appeared to them exhaustive, not only above what Sophy might expect, but also beyond what she could imagine. They had picked her up from the roadside and set her on the way to that sort of kingdom with the prospect of which Basil Williamson had tried to console her. The square was an estimable man, but one of small mind. He moved among the little—the contented lord of a pin point of the earth. Mrs. Brownlow was a profoundly pious woman, to whom content was a high duty, to be won by the performance of other duties. If the square detected in the girl signs of ingratitude to himself his wife laid equal blame on a rebellion against heaven. Sophy knew—if not then, yet on looking back—what they felt. Her references to them are charged with a reasoned whose playful expression, obstinately touched with scorn as it is, does not hide its sincerity. She soon perceived, anyhow, that she was getting a bad character. She, the cook in power, was at open war with Mrs. Smilker, the cook in erna, though, to be sure, Smilker might have done something to reconcile her to Grouch!

Mrs. Brownlow naturally raised herself on the side of constituted authority, of the superior rank in the domestic hierarchy. Moreover, it is likely that her brother was right in his cases out of ten, at all events. Sophy recognized that probability in after life. None the less, she allows herself more than once to speak of "that beast of a Smilker!"
For the greater part of this time she had no friends outside the hall to turn to. Julia Robbins was pursuing her training in acting in London and later, her profession in the country. Basil Williamson, who amused her, was at Cambridge and afterward at his hospital. A glimpse of him she may have caught now and then, but she had no further talk. Very probably he sought no opportunity. Sophy had passed from the infant's school to the scullery. She had grown from a child into a big girl. If prudent Basil kept these transformations in view, none can blame him—he was the son of the rector of a parsonage so when children to be he will be the potatoes Sophy had peeled, but recked no more of the hand that peeled them. In the main the child was no doubt a solitary creature.

So much is what scientific men and historians call "reconstruction"—a hazardous process, at least when you are dealing with human beings. It has been kept within the strict limits of legitimate inference and accordingly yields meager results. The return of Julia Robbins enables us to put many more of the stones—or bones, or what ever they may be called—in their appropriate places.

It is the summer of 1835, and Julia is very gorgeous. Three years had passed over her head. Her training had been completed a twelvemonth before, and she had been on her first tour. She had come home to rest and to look out for a new engagement. She wore a blue hat with a white feather, a blue skirt and a red Garibaldi shirt. Her fair hair was dressed in the latest fashion. The sensation she made in Moringham needs no record. But her head was not turned. Nobody was ever less of a mob than Julia Robbins, no friendship ever more independent of the ups and downs of life on one side or the other, than that which united her and Sophy Grouch. She opened communications with the hall scullery immediately, and "Sophy was as much of a darling as ever" is her warm hearted verdict.

The hall was not accessible to Julia nor Woodhouse lodge to Mrs. Brownlow's little cook girl. But the scullery's coachman had been at the station when Julia's train came in. Her arrival had been in the hall kitchen if

A Danger Avoided.
It was a wise young man who paused before he answered the widow who had asked him to guess her age. "You must have some idea about it," she said, with what was intended for an arch sidelong glance.
"I have several ideas," he admitted, with a smile. "The only trouble is that I hesitate whether to make you ten years younger on account of your looks or ten years older on account of your brains."

Then, while the widow smiled and blushed, he took a graceful but speedy leave.
Taking No Chances.
An English visitor to Carnoustie last summer was once asked to see his cigarette case and when it was handed to him coolly put it in his pocket. The visitor expostulated. The caddie responded: "It's all right, sir. I'll give it back to ye after the round. Ye see, I've gotten haud a croon on ye, an' I dinna mean ye to smoke till ye win! Gang on. I'll take care o' ye a' richt."

A Gorgeous Sight,

It has become a stereotyped phrase with the dramatic and show critics to pronounce a performance or exhibition "a pronounced success," or a "triumph of managerial ability." Without exaggeration, however, the Gentry Brothers' famous Shows United, now in its 21st year of popularity, may be truthfully and justly entitled to such criticism, as the public, always the truest and best of critics, has unanimously pronounced the show to be the grandest in appointment and equipment, the most instructive, the most comical and laughter provoking in its uproarious funny trained animal acts, and the most thrilling in its acrobatic and athletic specialties ever seen. With this universal verdict wherever the show has exhibited this year, we may expect a genuine treat of marvelous new, novel and mirth provoking specialties and performers as have not been here before. The Gentry Brothers' Famous Shows exhibit here on Saturday, May 16, at 2 and 8 p. m. on that date. Gentry Brothers are now negotiating for the purchase of a stud farm in this State, to which they will remove their famous blooded stock from their old home in Indiana.

Attention: Veterans of #### Forrest's Cavalry!

I have secured the use of Gelder's Hall, corner Fourth Avenue and Twentieth Street, Birmingham, Ala., for headquarters of Forrest's Cavalry during the Reunion in June. By writing to Col. Thomas S. Tate, at Birmingham, or applying to him immediately upon arrival, you can secure a horse, saddle and bridle for use on day of parade for two ($2) dollars. It is my desire that every member of Forrest's Cavalry shall join with us in the parade. All are requested to meet at Gelder's Hall at 10 o'clock a. m. second day of Reunion. A mass meeting and election will be held. Let every veteran of Forrest's Cavalry make an effort to attend. We will never have such an opportunity to meet again.

Most sincerely your comrade,
H. A. TYLER, Lieutenant General, Commanding Forrest's Cavalry Corps

TENNESSEE LYNCHING.

Negro Swung Up For Assault On Young Woman.

Pulaski, Tenn., May 8.--The negro, Elmo Howard, charged with assault upon Miss Claudia Allen, daughter of L. P. Allen, was taken from jail this afternoon about 2:30 o'clock and hanged from the bridge across Richland Creek, in the south end of town.

At the bridge he was given an opportunity to pray, and on his knees he is reported to have said: "Lord, forgive me for this," but when immediately asked if he was guilty, he again denied it, as he had done from the beginning.

His neck was not broken by the fall, and death resulted shortly from strangulation. The crowd then quietly dispersed.

Mr. Wm. H. Anderson, M. D., of Soda Springs, Ida., says that Bees Laxative Cough Syrup has relieved coughs and Colds where all other remedies failed. Its gentle laxative effects especially recommend it for children. It is pleasant to take. For coughs, colds, hoarseness, whooping cough. Money refunded if not satisfied. Sold by Anderson-Fowler Drug Co., Incorporated.

SENT TO ASYLUM.

Victim of Typhoid Fever Loses His Mind.

Lee Gee, col., of the Bennetts town neighborhood, was adjudged of unsound mind by a jury in the county court Saturday and ordered to the asylum. The undoing of his mind, it is thought, resulted from an attack of typhoid fever which he suffered several years ago. Gee is 51 years old and has a family.

Don't cough your head off when you can get a guaranteed Remedy in Bees Laxative Cough Syrup. It is especially recommended for children, as it is pleasant to take, is a gentle laxative thus expelling the phlegm from the system. For coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, hoarseness and all Bronchial trouble. Guaranteed. Sold by Anderson-Fowler Drug Co., Incorporated.

Child Criminally Assaulted.

Augusta, Ga., May 8.--Lula May Leopard, the nine-year-old daughter of Dollivar Leopard, of Langley, S. C., was criminally assaulted late today by an unknown white man and is in a critical condition.

Her assailment escaped, and up to a late hour tonight he had not been caught. Excitement is at fever heat.
